THE ANNUAL CATALOGUE

of Books, Pamphlets, &c. published during the year 1852 will be ready shortly.

47, Ludgate Hill: Jan. 17, 1853.

MR. MURRAY's list of announcements for the next two months and Spring, comprehends some important books and one or two long expected: amongst such are "The History of the Captivity of Napoleon at St. Helena," from the papers of the late Sir Hudson Lowe (promised about March); Mr. Layard's new volume, consisting of his "Narrative of Discoveries in Assyria and Babylonia during his Second Expedition" (just ready). Such is the value and interest attached to this work, that 5000 copies of it have been subscribed for by the trade before publication. It forms a handsome single 8vo. volume, profusely illustrated with nearly 400 plates, maps, and woodcuts. "The Correspondence, Despatches, &c. of Viscount Castlereagh, 3d and last series, including the Congress of Vienna and Battle of Waterloo," is nearly ready; also, the 11th volume of Mr. Grote's "History of Greece," a new work by Mr. Jesse, under the title of "Scenes and Occupations of Country Life," and one by Dr. Waagen, Director of the Royal Gallery of Pictures at Berlin, entitled "The Treasures of Art in Great Britain."

Messrs. Longman and Co., in addition to their recent publications in the last "Circular," have just ready for publication, or in immediate preparation, the following:—An entirely new edition of Mr. Sharon Turner's "History of England during the Middle Ages," in 4 vols. 8vo.; the "Autobiography" of the lamented historical painter, Mr. B. R. Haydon, edited and continued to the time of his death, from his own journals, by Tom Taylor, Esq., in 3 vols. 8vo.; a small volume, by the Author of "The Tongue of Time," entitled "The Light of the Forge;" and that long-required volume, a "Cabinet Gazetteer; or, a Popular Exposition of All the Countries of the World," by the Author of "The Cabinet Lawyer."

Messrs. Black, of Edinburgh, are nearly ready with their new edition of the "Encyclopædia Britannica," edited by Dr. Traill, which will be issued, both in parts and volumes, uninterruptedly until completed. It will form 21 volumes, and without doubt prove the finest work of reference of the present day. The first edition of this work was commenced in 1771, and the seventh edition completed in 1842. The aggregate sale of the different editions has exceeded 35,000.

Lady Fullerton, the Authoress of "Mildred Vernon," has just written "The Lady-Bird," a Novel, published by Mr. Moxon.—Lady Emmeline Stuart Wortley, the juvenile but talented authoress of the little volume of "Travels in America," published last autumn, has just written another narrative of her travels, published by Mr. Bosworth, under the title of "&c."—A fifth edition of the Rev. G. Fisk's popular work on the Holy Land, known as "A Pastor's Memorial," will shortly be published by Mr. Simpson, Wolverhampton.

By the French literary records of the year 1852, there appear to have been published in that country during the year 4519 engravings and lithographs, 2443 pieces of music, and 8261 books, pamphlets, and newspapers:—of the publications in foreign languages, 44 were in English. This return scarcely affords an idea of the number of books, including as it does so large a number of pamphlets and journals.—By Norton's "Literary Gazette" (New York), the number of American publications during the past year was 1150, exclusive of pamphlets. Of these, 285 were original American works, and 865 reprints. This summary, it is possible, may be somewhat understated, by works published in distant parts of the States, of local value, &c., not obtaining due publicity. In addition to the foregoing, we learn there are 2800 periodical works now in course of regular publication in the United States, of which no less than 350 are daily, and 2000 weekly, newspapers.

The American publishers have recently taken the lead in publishing collected editions of the fragmentary writings and speeches of our own authors, many of which would otherwise have been lost sight of. Thus the remains of the late Mr. Mackworth Praed first appeared from the press of Mr. Redfield, of New York, and are giving rise to the preparation of an authorised English edition by his family (announced by Messrs. Parker and Son). Dr. Maginn's miscellaneous writings are now in the press of the same publisher, who has also just published, in advance of us, a collected edition of Mr. Macaulay's speeches, as well as one of Mr. Meagher's. Messrs. Ticknor and Co., of Boston, are likewise the first with editions of the writings of Mr. De Quincey ("English Opium-Eater"), and of Mr. B. W. Procter (Barry Cornwall). Of the former a selection of his works—pieces grave and gay—is just announced for publication in Edinburgh.

THE GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE and HISTORICAL REVIEW.—The Magazine for January 1853, is the first of a new Volume. A Specimen Number will be sent on the receipt of 2s. 6d. in postage stamps.

"A better or more valuable work for Book Societies, Lending Libraries, and Reading Rooms, it is impossible to find within the whole compass of English literature. Its literary articles are peculiarly sound in principle, and its criticism liberal but just; whilst its Obituary confers upon it a national importance. We are sure then we cannot do a better service to our friends, and more especially to those connected with institutions like those we have adverted to, than in recommending this work to their support."

Nearly ready, in fcp. 4to. and in a legible type,

A New Edition of
THE AUTHORISED VERSION OF THE BIBLE.

Part I.—containing the whole of GENESIS.

THIS Edition is framed on the model of "The Chronological New Testament," which was issued in 1851, under the conviction that something could be done to make our invaluable English Version more intelligible to devout students of the Word of God, by some little helps in arrangement and printing.

In the present edition, these improvements have been more completely carried out; and, in addition, the following have been given:—

1. The most important Variations of the Versions, viz. the Chaldee Paraphrases, Samaritan, Septuagint, Syriac, Vulgate, Arabic, Persic, and Ethiopic. The ordinary reader is thus put in substantial possession of all that is valuable in the Polyglot of Bishop Walton and of Drs. Stier and Theile, and in the most recent editions of the Versions.

2. Critical Notes from the best sources, Continental and British.—The object has been to explain, as clearly and thoroughly as possible, all difficult passages, and thus to put the English reader in possession of those helps which modern research and scholarship have produced.

3. Elucidations from Modern Discoveries and Travels.—Great attention has been paid to the Geography and History of the Bible; and the best and most recent sources of information have been consulted—all which sources are carefully given.

[Nearly ready.]

"The elementary principles of plane trigonometry are here clearly stated, accurately proved, and abundantly illustrated. Like a skilful and experienced teacher, Mr. Colenso has no sooner established a theorem than he endeavours to interest the student in it by shewing to what important uses it may be applied. His examples are not merely numerous, but well chosen:—many of them being of a thoroughly practical character, and some relating to the great facts of astronomy. By a judicious economy of space and arrangement of type he has in this, as well as his other mathematical works, managed to comprise a great deal within a small compass. As far as he goes, he omits nothing essential;—on the contrary, he introduces much that is not to be found in treatises of larger pretensions. Propositions which are assumed in standard University text-books are here proved. We observe also more explanatory information than is customary on the origin of the technical terms used, the notation formerly employed—according to which the trigonometrical functions were defined to be lines, instead of ratios as at present—and the reason for the change, with rules for passing from one to the other, if required. A cheaper and better book for beginners we think could not be had anywhere."

Author of the "Physical Atlas," &c.

SCHOOL ATLAS of GENERAL and DESCRIPTIVE GEOGRAPHY, founded on the most recent Discoveries and Rectifications; specially constructed with a view to the purposes of sound instruction, and on a uniform Series of Scales, by which the relative size of countries can at once be perceived. Second Edition, strongly half-bound, 12s. 6d.

2.

SCHOOL ATLAS of PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY, in which the subject is treated in a more simple and elementary manner than in the previous works of the author. Second Edition, strongly half-bound, 12s. 6d. each.

3.

By means of a new process, these works combine the accuracy and neatness of the highest style of engraving, with a mechanical application of colours, of which the effect is to secure a clearness, correctness, and elegance unapproached by former methods.

The Size of the Prints is 15 inches by 12. Single Prints, 1s. 6d.

"To present accurate drawings and pleasing pictures is not the only nor primary object of this work, but rather to impart lessons of practical importance and daily application in an attractive form, and to open up a subject which, judiciously applied, is calculated to prove to the young a most interesting and instructive study. The design is to show the Utility of Animals to Man, both in their services during life, and in their uses after death; and to deduce results calculated to excite interest and admiration, and evince the Wisdom and goodness of God in the subsistence, comfort, and social advancement of his creature MAN.

VARTY'S

SELECT SERIES OF DOMESTIC AND WILD ANIMALS.

In Thirty-six carefully coloured Plates. Size 12 inches by 9. Price £1. 4s.

The selection of Animals has been limited to those which are most known and best adapted to elicit inquiry from the young, and afford scope for instruction and application. The set of Outlines for Drawings, 9s.

THE ANIMAL KINGDOM AT ONE VIEW.

Clearly Exhibiting the relative Sizes of Animals to Man, and their Comparative Sizes with each other.

Arranged in Divisions, Orders, &c. according to the Method of Baron Cuvier.

CAREFULLY AND BEAUTIFULLY COLOURED AFTER NATURE.

"This work is eminently calculated to facilitate elementary instruction in Natural History. In the absence of living animals, correct representations of their forms and comparative sizes must be considered a desirable attainment. This object is effected in the present publication, which furnishes a most correct, simple, and attractive method of cultivating the study of the Animal Kingdom. Its peculiar features are, that the animals are drawn from nature on a scale laid down on each print—MAN being given as the standard of measurement; by which means not only the true comparative size of each animal is shown, and the natural size correctly ascertained, but the erroneous impressions which children are so apt to receive from representations of animal life, in which no comparative standard is preserved, are entirely removed.

On Four Imperial Sheets, 30 inches by 22, in Sheets, beautifully coloured, with a Key, £1. 5s. 6d.

The THIRD, or MOTHER'S CATECHISM.

By the Rev. DAVID BLAIR.

 The extensive demand which yet prevails for these excellent Catechisms proves that they continue to sustain their well-deserved popularity as mediums of instruction, and that, notwithstanding the many compilations and imitations which have been brought into existence, solely by the success of these favourite little books, Blair's Catechisms are still regarded by the intelligent portion of the public as unequalled for the variety and accuracy of the information they contain, as well as for the admirable simplicity and perspicuity with which that information is conveyed.

BLAIR has induced the Publishers to further extend the utility of this system, by a continued Series on the most important subjects, under the superintendence and editorship of the Rev. T. WILSON. The want of such a series, skillfully executed, has long been felt.

THE public is respectfully informed, that WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE, royal 8vo., can only be obtained of the present Proprietors, Messrs. Ingram, Cooke, and Co., no other English House having any interest whatever in this property. It becomes necessary to state this fact, as an erroneous opinion is prevalent that "WORCESTER'S DICTIONARY," which is avowedly a mere compilation from the materials of WEBSTER (see Title of WORCESTER), is the book announced as published at 227, Strand.

"We can have no hesitation in giving it as our decided opinion, that this is the most elaborate and successful undertaking of the kind which has ever appeared."

ARNOLD'S NEW GRADUS AD PARNASSUM.

In 8vo. price 12s.

THE ANTICLEPTIC GRADUS: founded on Quicherat's Thesaurus Poeticus Linguae Latinae. Edited by the Rev. THOMAS KERCHEVER ARNOLD, M.A., Rector of Lyndon, and late Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge.

The object of this work is to give the pupil all the help afforded to him by the old Gradus, supplying it in the form of materials to be worked up by himself, not in the concrete state of ready-made lines. Its anticleptic or antipilfering character consists in the insertion of expressions and phrases from the best authors, illustrative of the several words without producing the complete lines of quotation; thus exercising the taste of the student and adding to his stock of poetical ideas, but obliging him to use his own powers upon the matter presented to him. It contains a careful selection of Epithets, and will be found a sufficient Dictionary for the best Latin poets.—PREFACE.

"This work is so superior to an ordinary Gradus as scarcely to come under the same category. Instead of a miscellaneous heap of pretended synonyms, many of which have but little similarity of meaning, we have here a careful selection of words really interchangeable without much injury to the sense intended, and arranged under the various heads of meaning. The pupil is thus saved from those ridiculous blunders into which thoughtless boys are frequently betrayed by the Gradus. The epithets and phrases are equally well chosen and well arranged. A treasury it certainly is, and a valuable one too, for all who wish to read and imitate the Latin Poets with success."—ATHENÆUM.

RIVINGTONS, St. Paul's Church Yard, and Waterloo Place.

NEW AND CHEAPER EDITIONS OF DR. WM. SMITH'S SCHOOL DICTIONARIES.

NOTICE.—The Publishers desire to call attention to the above works, the prices of which have now been reduced one-fourth.

These DICTIONARIES have, in the opinion of Classical Teachers, entirely superseded the obsolete works of Lemprière, Potter, and Adam, and are now in general use at most of our great Public and Private Schools; and as the Publishers have reason to believe that their former price has alone prevented their universal adoption, they have determined to issue these New Editions at such a price as shall place them within the reach of every School and Seminary.

A Copious and Critical Latin-English Lexicon,

FOUNDED ON THE LARGER

GERMAN-LATIN LEXICON OF DR. WILLIAM FREUND:

WITH ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS

FROM THE

LEXICONS OF GESNER, FACCIOLATI, SCHELLER, GEORGES, ETC.

By E. A. ANDREWS, LL.D., &c.

In reviewing this Lexicon, THE ATHENÆUM says—
“In conclusion, we are glad to have an opportunity of introducing so excellent a work to the notice of our classical and philological readers. Rarely, if ever, has so large an amount of philological information been comprised in a single volume of this size. The knowledge which it conveys of the early and later Latin is not to be gathered from ordinary Latin dictionaries.”

THE LITERARY GAZETTE says—“We have examined this book with considerable attention, and have no hesitation in saying it is the best dictionary of the Latin language that has appeared.”

THE SPECTATOR says—“An elaborate fullness and completeness, while every thing is quite clear, are the characteristics of this world; rendering it the best Latin Dictionary for the Scholar or advanced Student.”

In 2 vols. royal 8vo. price £1. 5s. each, cloth boards,

THE ROYAL PHRASEOLOGICAL French-English and English-French Dictionary.

By the late J. C. TARVER, French Master, Eton College.

Notice from Quarterly Review, No. 174, Sept. 1850.

“Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf,—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues, can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying, that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years, and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocables fresh from the mint of camp or quingette, and lively audacious turns, φανατασμεντοις, undreamt of by ‘the forty,’—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson.”
